The Idaho and Columbia Branch of the Pacific Railroad

REMARKS [illegible] LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY [illegible] 26, 1868.

From the Boise Statesman, Dec. [illegible]

The hall of the House of Representatives was densely packed last Saturday to listen to the distinguished railroad engineer now in charge of the preliminary survey party for the northern branch of the U. P. R. Both branches of the Legislature had passed a resolution to meet in joint session and the Council had assembled with the House for that purpose. Mr. Taylor, President of the Council, introduced [illegible] who said:

The object aimed at by Eastern capitalists in the construction of the U. P. railroad and its branches are three-fold, [illegible] to extend the hand of national protection and fraternal love across the barren waste of mountain and desert to the young and vigorous nation that has sprung into existence on our western coast.

Nor has this willingness to be banded together in the brotherhood of a great nation been alone confined to the East. In the hour of the nation's peril the generous and hearty support of the Western slope was not asked for in vain. I remember well the thrill of joy which ran through the whole Eastern States when the telegraph announced that California, Oregon, Nevada, Colorado and Idaho had decided to keep step to the music of our national air, and the blood and the treasure of the giant West was poured out like water in defense of the starry flag. (Applause.)

In view of this then, it was no unmeaning return for the faithful devotion of this young empire which your enterprise and your industry had so successfully assisted in planting upon the Pacific coast that the people of the East cordially united with the Government in the munificent donation which has secured to you the early completion of the Central and Union Pacific railways.

I say advisedly that this gigantic enterprise—the most wonderful and I may add, the most successful ever undertaken by any nation or by any age in the world's history—had its first inception in the desire to tie together with bands of iron the great East and the growing West into one harmonious and national unity.

Nor will I deny that the ever shrewd and calculating Yankee has had an eye while voting the millions of national treasure to these great enterprises, to the traffic which this channel would open, to his manufactured goods in exchange for the precious metals with which your mountains abound. Nor were these objects I have named, though all important in themselves, the only aims to be accomplished by the construction of this national highway. It has been to open a speedier transit for the trade of India, China and Japan, where markets have been accumulating for centuries. Nor should the importance of this traffic be overlooked.

For the trade of the East, commercial ambition has struggled in every age. The ruling power of Europe always held this golden key to the political supremacy of the world. Greece and Rome shared largely in this trade, and it constituted no small portion of their national grandeur. It built up the cities of Italy, Florence, Genoa, Padua, Pisa, Milan, and Venice. After those maritime cities, it enriched the Spanish and Portuguese nations, until from these the enterprise and gallantry of the little Dutch Republic carried away the palm of pre-eminence, so graphically sketched by the pen of our historian, Mr. Motley. These in turn yielded to England. With the trade of the East and the West centered in the British Isles, her merchants have become princes and her trafficers the honorable in the land.

Is it possible to divert this trade from its old long and tedious channel by ocean? and can it be made to pour its golden stream of wealth through the channel which our national munificence is about to open?

With these problems we might occupy our attention for hours, but I pass to the more immediate objects of interest, viz., the objects aimed at by the company which to-day I have the honor to represent in attempting to build the Idaho, Oregon and Puget Sound branch of the Union Pacific railroad.

Let us look for a moment at the map and we will suppose the Central and U. P. railways have formed their junction near the north end of Salt Lake. Looking from this point to the north we find a wide valley at whose head is a very low pass across the Raft river range of mountains, and light grades will carry us over this and down the western slope to Raft river. Rounding the northern point of the Goose creek mountains we find ourselves on the great plateau of the Snake river plain that reaches from the mouth of Goose creek to Olds Ferry. But I need not weary you with an extended description of a country so well known to you all. Suffice it to say that but one mountain barrier crosses our pathway clear to Portland and Puget Sound. Providence has so arranged that the magnificent Columbia has cut its way through the snowy Cascade range and opened an easy route without grades or deep snows to the Pacific ocean. By this route the heavy grades of the Sierra Nevadas are entirely avoided as well as the most fearful depths of snows—both great items in the successful operations of railways. Leaving the question of snow out of the consideration, it may not be known to you gentlemen that the engines of the U. P. R. can haul from Salt Lake basin to Omaha three full laden freight trains which the Central road can deliver to us. So much for the question of grade.

Again. The distance to Portland, at least, is not materially increased, if at all. And in building to the Sound, we are meeting the great important trade of China and India. The ocean currents and the winds are so ordered that, in the language of sea faring men, "the farthest way round is the surest way home." And hence vessels from China and Japan take a northerly course and make our coast near the Straits of San Juan de Fuca—the entrance of Puget Sound. Now could a vessel run down the safe and commodious harbor of Puget Sound, ship her cargo by rail to Chicago, New York and Boston, and by telegraph receive returns of sale and the amount placed to her credit in some banking house on Puget Sound, all this accomplished in less time than she could have made the trip along the coast from the Straits of San Juan de Fuca to San Francisco. You see, gentlemen, a great object is gained, for you know that time, in the language of the lawyer, has become "the essence" of all commercial transactions.

Nor should the important way of freight and traffic be overlooked. I venture to predict that should the construction of this branch be made a fixed fact, that before the cars could reach this region, the impulse given will have created a way business that would handsomely pay for the running expenses of the trains, and that this business would enormously increase year by year.

In view of this fact, I am confident that the U. P. R. R. will construct this branch even though they should fail in getting a grant subsidy which they are asking for. But it must take more time of course. With this Government assistance I could confidently invite you, gentlemen, two years from the approaching New Year's day to an excursion over this railway from Monument Point to Puget Sound.

Men have expressed to me the fear lest the C. P. R. R. of California should build [illegible] ward and form a close connection with the Smoky Hill road from Kansas, as a sort of revenge perhaps for the construction of this branch of the U. P. to Oregon. I answer candidly that I hope so, and further, that the great Northern Pacific railroad will also be built as it will be so soon as needed. It will be no detriment to the commercial world to have two and even three competing lines from ocean to ocean.

If capitalists are willing to risk their money in such investments, I have no fears but that they will pay. And if the anticipations of far seeing men are only half realized, the trade of India and the East will soon tax the business capacity of at least two roads in less than five years after our channel is fairly opened.

With all the natural advantages of this route we are now examining, you are all familiar with its freedom from heavy snows, its light grades and cheapness in operating. [illegible] therefore upon being located not upon the branch leading to the Pacific coast at some out of the way harbor, but you will be astonished to find the commerce of both the old and new continents passing by your doors. For I challenge any man versed in the geography of this country to show me any other route that could excel this or in any way equal it.

You see to-day the only indications of a railway a single party of engineers toiling through mud and sagebrush—a small beginning, this true, for a grand enterprise. Three years ago a single party of engineers were working through snow and storm and cold weather preparing the first twenty miles of the Union Pacific Railroad for the contractors grading. And to-day over 1,100 miles of desert and sage plain has been spanned by the steel and the snorting car. [illegible] just such small beginnings the [illegible] great enterprises [illegible] history have had their birth.

Says the lamented Irving: "Towards the close of a summer's day an old man with whitened hair approached the convent near the little port of Palos in Andalusia and stopping at the gate asked the porter for a little bread and water for his child whom he was leading by the hand. That gray haired man was Columbus, on his way to court to offer the new empire of a world to the Sovereigns of Spain. I know nothing more comprehensive, more sublime in history than the views of this grand old man to bring together the ends of the earth, to change the trade of the east and to bring nations one to another by the interchange of the bountiful gifts of heaven. The productions of the globe had been made to differ so widely in its different latitudes as to clearly indicate that one of the designs of Providence was to develop close commercial relations between nations. These were the reasons which he constantly urged upon the king of Spain why the expedition of discovery should be undertaken."

This world of Columbus' lays before you to-day, gentlemen, in all its richness and grandeur. And if the development of railroads, the great agents of commerce and levers of modern civilization, be carefully and prudently made, the palm of pre-eminence in all that has distinguished any land—except the memory of bygone greatness—will soon be ours.

My earnest wish, gentlemen, is that you may live to see the old east and the new west joining hands across the plains of Snake river, across this vast inland domain. Then shall the prophetic visions of Columbus become living realities.

Proposed Change in the Route of the California and Oregon Railroad

From the Alta California.

Some years ago Congress passed an act donating 12,800 acres of public land per mile to a railroad which should extend from the Central Pacific Railroad to Portland in Oregon. The application to Congress was presented on behalf of a Company that had already made a survey known as the Elliot survey, which followed the most direct and practicable route from the head of the Sacramento to the head of the Willamette Valley, crossing to Shasta Valley west of Shasta Peak and passing near Yreka. That route had also been recommended by the United States Army engineer, who made a survey and report in connection with the Pacific Railroad survey. The bill was passed upon the representations then made, but no work has been done in California and very little in Oregon, although it seems that the East Side Company has commenced in earnest in the latter State. The donation is made to two Companies, one in each State. In Oregon there were two Companies, each of which claimed to be entitled to the land in that State, generally known as the East and West Side Companies, according to the position of their routes in reference to the Willamette River. The Legislature decided in favor of the East Company, but whether they had any authority to make such a decision we do not know.

Rumor says the California Company and the East Side Company have agreed to apply to Congress for a donation of land for a branch railroad from Centerville, Nevada, on the Pacific Railroad to Goose Lake, at the northeastern corner of this State, and, that if that donation should be granted, the roads will run to that point leaving Yreka two hundred miles and Shasta fifty miles to the west. The Yreka Union hints that the Oregon Company would run southeastwardly from Eugene City, and would not pass through Umpqua or Rogue Valley, so that Roseburg and Jacksonville would be left out in the cold as well as Yreka. If Congress should refuse to grant aid from Centerville to Goose Lake, then the Elliot survey, across Klamath, Rogue and Umpqua valleys will be followed.

The proposed change of route is a proper matter for discussion by the press of this State. Is it the interest of the majority of the people of California and Oregon that the route be changed? What course should our Congressmen pursue? Oregon will, of course, want some direct communication with the Pacific Railroad. It would be very inconvenient for the Portland merchant to come to Sacramento before he could get to New York. But it would probably be better to have a road from the Pacific Railroad to start near Salt Lake and run through Idaho to the vicinity of Walla Walla, that one branch could follow the southern bank of the Columbia to Portland, and another route pass northwestward to Puget Sound. It would certainly be more convenient for the direct trade between Oregon and California to have a road made for the express purpose of accommodating it. So far as the interests of California are concerned they appear to us to be decidedly in favor of the Elliot survey, which passed through a rich and more populous country than would be found on the Goose Lake route; but Companies which get large grants of land prefer sometimes to pass through unsettled districts, for there they get half the land near the road and are enabled to fix the sites of towns at their pleasure—privileges which they do not get in a settled country. For two hundred miles this side of Goose Lake, the road would run through a very desolate region, and for a hundred miles along the proposed route in Oregon the country is almost a desert. The coast road should not be sacrificed for any minor considerations.

The contract with the proprietors of the Congressional Globe will expire by limitation on the 4th of March next. The Joint Committee on Public Printing were directed at the last session to invite proposals for the publication of the proceedings and debates upon a plan and specifications agreed upon by them, and the Congressional printer is also to furnish an estimate of what the work will cost at the Public Printing Office. There will be a vigorous scramble for this job and several newspaper men are already figuring for it for the control. DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

DATES TO JANUARY 5.

Washington News

[illegible] Jan. [illegible] The Republican's Washington special says it is doubtful if a quorum of both Houses will be present to-day.

The Chairman of the House Committee on Territories will report a bill in a day or two, providing for a Territorial government for Alaska, requiring impartial suffrage and forbidding the granting of private privileges to all incorporations, also requiring the passage of laws as early as possible for the protection and preservation of the more valuable fur bearing animals.

Butler's financial speech will be delivered at an early day. In addition to maintaining his policy he will review Norton's plan and make a vigorous assault upon the idea of specie as the basis for currency and standard of values, holding that currency like our greenbacks, based upon the faith of a great nation and for the security of which all property is pledged, is more desirable than specie.

New York Matters.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The Underground Railroad Company, incorporated by the last Legislature, have surrendered their charter and given up the project for the present. The conditions of the charter are so stringent that capitalists dare not invest, although the engineering difficulties are much less than might be supposed.

The Herald understands that ex-Gov. Fenton will bring suit against Thurlow Weed, for libel, on account of the publication of certain matters in his paper.

The Maine Senatorship

AUGUSTA, ME., Jan. 5.—The Legislature of Maine will convene on the 6th. The question of United States Senatorship is attracting great attention. The contest is close between Hon. L. M. Morrill and Hannibal Hamlin, with the chances in favor of the latter.

Prize Fight.

SALT LAKE, Jan. 5.—A prize fight for $200 a side took place at Bear River City on the 4th of January, between James Osborn and Billy Tyler, alias English Bill. Eleven rounds were fought, lasting fifty eight minutes. Osborne could not come to time after the eleventh round, and Tyler was declared winner.

The Union Pacific railroad track is expected at Echo City in a few days.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The Senate resumed its session at noon to-day. Thirty-nine members were present.

The President presented a statement from the Secretary of War of the number of troops employed in the service against the Indians. Also a statement from the Secretary of the Treasury, transmitting the report of the Special Commissioner of Revenue Wells, and asking the attention of Congress to his recommendations.

Terry offered a resolution requesting the President to transmit a copy of his late amnesty proclamation, with a statement of the authority by which it was issued. Terry said he offered the resolution because, although he favored the amnesty, he doubted the right of the President to grant it in this sweeping way, and he wished to have the question settled.

Howard was very glad the attention of the Senate had been called to this question. He thought it important that the people of the United States should know whether the President had such a dispensing power as was implied in the terms of the proclamation. He believed the assumption by the Executive of such power, was unwarranted by precedent. After considerable debate, Trumbull, Frelinghuysen and Conkling against the resolution, and Davis and Doolittle in its favor, it was adopted.

Wilson introduced a bill to amend the national banking law, which was referred to the Committee on Finance.

Stewart introduced a bill to enable the people of Georgia to form a State Government, Republican in form. Referred to the Judiciary Committee. The bill provides for a repeal of so much of the reconstruction acts as applies to Georgia, and to make the Government of the State provisional, and it provides for the reassembling of the Constitutional Convention in March next. It also provides that no one shall be excluded from voting on the Constitution on account of race or color, and that when the Constitution is ratified by voters it shall be submitted to the consideration of Congress.

On motion of Howard the Secretary of the Treasury was directed to transmit copies of the last annual reports of the Pacific Railroad Company.

After a short Executive session the Senate adjourned.

In the House nothing of importance was done, the time being mostly occupied in Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, and on the President's Message of 1867.

Windom, of Minnesota, made a speech in favor of the construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—The latest news received here from Africa, confirms the recent report relative to the safety of Dr. Livingstone. It is said he is somewhere in the vicinity of Lake Nyassa, near the confines of Zanzibar. Owing, it is thought, to wars between the native troops, his progress has been impeded, and, consequently, he has been unable to reach the sea coast.

PARIS, Jan. 4.—The La Turque newspaper asserts that Russia urges the meeting of the Conference, now that Crete is quiet, with the view to prevent the expulsion of the Greeks from the Ottoman territory. It intimates that the representatives of the Porte will leave the Conference if this point is introduced, and it warns Prussia of the danger of another Crimean war.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 5.—A mixed commission, with Forkin as President, has been appointed to adjudicate the case of the Greek steamer Enosis.

MADRID, Jan. [illegible]—Four of the insurgents of Malaga, who fired into a party of refugees while under the protection of the American flag, the General in command in Malaga, had arrested and punished, and he has since communicated with the commander of the American squadron in Spanish waters, informing him of his measures in the case.

MODEL MESSAGE.—The St. Louis Democrat publishes an editorial "message" addressed to the acting President of the United States, from which we take the following:

Your message, sir, deserves from the people and the press only such consideration as it has received from Congress. No other utterance of yours, bad as many of them have been, has so clearly shown why not only Southern gentlemen but Southern negroes always despised the "mean whites" of the South. You were elevated to high office out of a generous desire to recognize and honor that class so long held in a subjection worse than slavery. But it will not be strange if your career should lead the people of this land firmly to resolve that no man of that class shall ever again have a chance to disgrace the nation.

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, JAN [illegible] 1869

Expenses of the Government

[illegible] the Secretary of the Treasury their own witness tell them.

In his report [illegible] the purpose of ascertaining how much of these taxes were applied in payment of the cost of the war [illegible] the War and Navy Departments [illegible] asked [illegible]

[illegible] By the War Department [illegible] By the Navy Department [illegible]

These figures show that the [illegible] expended by the War and Navy Departments between the 1st day of April 1865, and the 1st day of November 1868 [illegible] justly chargeable to the expenses of the war [illegible] $630 43[illegible]

To which should be added amounts transferred to the Pacific R'ds [illegible]
Amount paid for Alaska [illegible]

Total [illegible]

After giving these figures the Secretary says:

It is thus shown that within a period of three years and seven months the revenues or the receipts from all sources of revenue reached the enormous sum of $1 662 49[illegible] and that $630 431 125 were paid on debts which were actually due at the close of the war and for bounties which, like the pay of the army, were a part of the expenses of the war. Adding the amount thus paid to the debt as exhibited by the books of the Treasury on the 1st day of April 1865, it appears that the debt of the United States at that time was $2 997 386 203 and that the actual reduction has been $470 256 650 and that if the advances [illegible] for Alaska should have [illegible]

From these official statements it will be seen that the war debt, on the first of April 1865, was almost $[illegible] 000 000 and that it has been reduced by the proceeds of taxes $520,000,000. But the interest that has been paid on that debt and the money expended for pensions are part and parcel of the war. The interest has averaged $140,000 000 a year since the close of the war and the pensions $22,500,000 which for three years and seven months, amounts to $582,300,000. Add this sum to the $630 431,125 of war debts paid, and the total makes $1 213 7[illegible]1 125 which being deducted from the whole amount procured by taxes, viz, $1,662 496 064 the balance is $448 765,937 as the amount expended in three years and seven months for all purposes except reduction of debt, payment of interest and pensions, or an actual average of $124,900,000 per annum in currency which, with gold at 140 represents an annual expenditure of $87,070 000 in coin. This covers all that has been paid out for reconstruction purposes for support of the Freedmen's Bureau expenses of collecting the internal revenue, which alone costs from eight to ten millions a year the cost of the Indian wars in 1866–7–8, and of the extra number of troops required in the South to preserve order and peace.

Turning to the report of the Secretary of the Treasury for 1867, we find on page 359 a statement of the expenses of the Government under the Democratic administration of the pure and loved James Buchanan, viz:

For 1857, in gold	$71,274 587
For 1858, in gold	82 062,186
For 1859, in gold	83 678 643
For 1860, in gold	77 055 125

The amount paid for pensions averaged but $1,120,000 per annum, and the interest on the debt, $2,150,000 per annum. Says the Chicago Tribune in reviewing this subject: The Union then numbered eight millions of inhabitants less than it does now, showing that the expenses of the Government for the past three years and a half, aside from the cost of the war, interest and pensions, is less per inhabitant than it was under the much vaunted economical Democratic administration of Buchanan. But we are not claiming that expenses may not be largely reduced. General Grant will most certainly cut them down considerably; but we do insist that the hue and cry of "extravagance and profligate waste of public money," raised by Seymour and his party, during the late canvass, had no better basis than electioneering slander and partisan necessities, when the expenses of the Government are compared with those of the last Democratic administration which brought on the war.

[illegible] Positions

All the Democratic papers of Oregon are now arguing with more or less directness in favor of the repudiation of the national debt. Eight years ago they were all arguing in favor of secession, and contending that the Government "had no power to coerce sovereign States." Their present position in reference to the debt is as untenable and odious as the position they took eight years ago in reference to the rebellion. The people will no more refuse to pay the debt that was incurred in preserving their nationality than they would accept Democratic counsel eight years ago and allow their nationality to be destroyed. Repudiation in any form is just as odious as was secession; and the party which avows its purpose to repudiate the debt will meet with the same fate which overwhelmed it when it was an advocate of secession doctrines.

It is true they talk loudly and valiantly now of their purpose to "put down the bondholder," and of their power "to sweep the country" on repudiation principles; but they talked quite as loudly and valiantly of their determination to put a stop to the war, and of their ability to bury Abolitionism so deep that it would appear no more forever. They succeeded in strengthening the purpose of rebellion, but they did not enable it to triumph. Every Democrat from ex-President Pierce down to Governor Whiteaker of Long Tom, asserted that should there be any attempt to coerce sovereign States there would be a fire in the rear which would scatter the Unionists and result in a triumphant vindication of Democratic principles. And in fact the Abolitionists were cowards who never would dare to meet Southern gentlemen in arms. Then came the war during which the Unionists fought the Democrats at home and the rebels in the field, and then came also a complete victory, a punished rebellion and an utter overthrow of the Democratic party.

So now if this party presses the question of repudiation which it seems disposed to do the same fate is in store for it which it met when it was an advocate of the doctrines of the rebellion. If Democrats will persist in this course they may as well begin to get ready for the next deluge.

Persecuted Niggers. — From rebel sources we have been having highly colored reports of outrages by negroes in Georgia. But with all the fuss that has been made it is not certain that anybody has been hurt. To-day the origin of the difficulty is stated. It grew out of the presumption of the niggers in insisting that their employers should keep their bargain with them relative to a distribution of the crops. This is the case which has given our Democratic neighbors so rare an opportunity to descant upon the "brutality of niggers."

The Consistency of a Pap Seeker

The Oregonian in speaking of the present bankrupt condition of the State finances says:

As Democratic partisanship brought things to this shape we would let them stand until they are righted in the regular way.

Such an admission, coming from a journal professing to advocate the cause of the Great National Union Party, is certainly inexplicable and unpardonable, and leads the reader at once to the conclusion that there is something rotten in Denmark. It can hardly be realized that with the terrible [illegible] of the [illegible] rebellion [illegible] and [illegible] grand [illegible] aspects [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] administration [illegible] of the Democ[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] people into an abyss of chaotic financial ruin and [illegible] unblushingly and apparently [illegible] stating they say that it is right, and warn the Executive of the Republican party to let it rest and permit the State to drift [illegible] into the slough of irretrievable discredit. — Unionist.

Let us examine [illegible] of this model Union Republican organ [illegible] which [illegible] the [illegible] important canvass [illegible] didn't know its [illegible] that it had any till after Grant was elected. When it started out to discuss this matter it virtually censured the Republican members of the Legislature for resigning and said it would never apologize for those who had abandoned their posts. But finding this course unprofitable it finally threw the blame on the reckless violent Democratic majority, where it belongs. And now it proceeds a step further and becomes wonderfully indignant because, as it alleges, the Oregonian is "willing to abide by the revolutionary and farcical mal-administration of the Democratic Ku Klux majority at the last session."

[illegible] newspaper can be more [illegible] than the Unionist does in this matter. After censuring the "revolutionary and farcical (singular anti-climax) conduct of the Democrats during the late session, it appeals to the Governor to call this same "Democratic Ku Klux majority" together again. It is not content with the "revolutionary mal-administration" that characterized the recent regular session; it wants the "Ku Klux majority" called to the Capital by the Governor, and an opportunity afforded for more "mal-administration." It talks about the State's "drifting into an inextricable slough of discredit" — the result of Democratic partisanship and recreancy, — and then demands that the very authors of this disgrace and wrong shall be given still further chances for mischief! Accepting the Unionist's description of the character of the Democratic majority as true, what sane man would suppose that anything but evil could result from calling such body together? As they have plunged the State into "an abyss of chaotic financial ruin and insolvency" (these words are the Unionist's, and we beg that no one will attribute such a fine sentence to us) they are the very doctors whom that paper would summon to cure the disorder. Here is where we differ from the Unionist. Knowing that the "Democratic Ku Klux majority" brought matters into this fix, we are not such fools as to apply to them for a remedy. Every sensible person knows that if they got together again they will be more intolerant and violent than before. The Unionist calls them "a riotous ring of irresponsible ruffians," but does hope the Governor will assemble them at the Capital again to legislate upon the most important affairs of the State. We regret as much as any one that the Democrats did not pass the appropriation bill, and that they got the State into this difficulty; we are not "willing to abide by their mal-administration," for we abide by it most unwillingly, but it does not strike us as being a very remarkable exhibition of human wisdom to call on such a body as the Unionist describes for help. Those who control that paper in this matter have a personal interest in an appropriation, and for the sake of a few dollars the paper stultifies itself in such a way as to excite general contempt and put consistency to shame.

Reverdy Johnson's Failure

George W. Smally, the London correspondent of the New York Tribune has addressed an admirable letter to the editor of the London Daily News, on the course pursued by Reverdy Johnson on the subject of the Alabama claims. He shows first that the American minister has no power to settle anything, and that no convention made by him is worth a straw unless ratified by the State Department and Executive at Washington, and by the United States Senate. He shows next that the settlement Mr Johnson talks of is actually a complete surrender on our part of a principle to which we have always held throughout the controversy and which Lord Stanley himself practically acknowledged six months ago. Finally he makes it perfectly evident that there is not the slightest probability of the United States accepting any such compromise, and he predicts that the recall and disgrace of Mr Johnson may be looked for as the first intimation of what the new President and his Cabinet think of the whole affair. We give a single paragraph of Mr Smally's letter:

Before Mr Johnson came to England some of the old resentment, I know, had been softened though at no time has there existed such a feeling of unmixed friendliness between the people of the two countries as he describes. Under all the reviving good will the purpose to exact just redress for wrongs lay deep. I speak with confidence for I know the North and Mr Reverdy Johnson, a Marylander, does not and cannot know it. To whatever extent this healing process may have gone on, Mr Johnson succeeded in stopping it. Any returning affection we felt towards the English people certainly did not include Mr Roebuck, Lord Wharncliffe and Mr Laird. When Mr Johnson was known to employ the first moments of his embassy in fraternizing with Lord Wharncliffe, and Mr Roebuck a shriek of surprise and indignation ran through the North. When close upon that followed the Liverpool banquet, the embrace with Laird, and all the humiliation of that odious scene, the resentment at home knew no bounds and you cannot be surprised if the old feeling of animosity against England awoke at the same moment. Mr Johnson was doing homage to the most noted enemies of his country beseeching their forgiveness, declaring that America had buried all the feeling that grew out of the war. The response of the country which he represented was more than a denial of his assertions, more than a demand for his recall. It took naturally and necessarily the shape of fresh anger against the country in whose behalf she had endured this humiliation. Mr Gladstone thought there would be an echo of the Liverpool banquet from America. It came with a vengeance. You may shut your ears to it if you will, but you will understand its meaning when Mr Johnson's bargain is repudiated when President Grant recalls him in disgrace, and when the questions he has meddled with have been reopened by a new minister representing a people justly exasperated by the attitude and declarations of Mr Reverdy Johnson. Do you suppose American shipowners mean to intrust their claims to the guest of the builder of the ship that destroyed their own? Or to put it in another way—if Sir Frederick Bruce when minister at Washington had met Stephens the Fenian Head center at dinner, had asked to be introduced to him and lavished expressions of friendship upon him, would you have tolerated it? Doubtless you despise Stephens as an individual. So do we despise Messrs Roebuck and Laird, but they are representative men. They represent the classes which hated and sought to divide us, and no American with a spark of self respect would have sought out those men, much less have sought their good will and publicly invoke their forgiveness as did Mr Reverdy Johnson.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH

Jacksonville, Jan [illegible] — The small pox is raging here. All business is suspended. Four new cases are reported [illegible] the authorities to-day. The authorities have posted notices on all the roads warning persons not to come into town. The Catholic Sisters have asked permission to take charge of the small pox hospital. There are nineteen cases under treatment in town at the pest house, [illegible] of which are announced convalescent. Great [illegible] is felt, and the most energetic means are being taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

Salem, Jan [illegible] — One case of small pox is reported [illegible] city with fair indications of its spreading, as the city authorities have taken no measures to prevent it.

FROM THE NORTH

[illegible], Jan [illegible] — A man named Harry [illegible] was recently drowned in the [illegible] river last week. His body was found yesterday.

[illegible], Jan [illegible] — On Monday last during a heavy gale [illegible] [illegible] a while on its way from Port Orchard [illegible] Malto[illegible]. Two men were in the boat and one of them named James Pro[illegible] was drowned.

The Patent Office has just received from Boston an application for a patent for an improved machine for cutting and marking paper collars which will make and cut 200 000 collars every ten hours with the assistance of a single laborer to feed the machine.

General Grant at Chattanooga

Gen Grant's department was truly an imperial domain. As we have seen, it included ten States, covering nearly half a million square miles, and comprising more than eleven millions of people. It stretched from Lake Superior to Louisiana and from Pennsylvania to the valley of the Mississippi. It is not an exaggeration to say that during this time there was scarcely a corner of this vast region which, directly or indirectly, was not stirred by the preparations of the campaign. [illegible] in a thousand hills were moving to feed the army; a million hands were at work [illegible] their furnaces glowed by night and by day. The railroads from Lake Erie to Natchez [illegible] with their enormous labor. The Mississippi, the Ohio, the Tennessee, the Cumberland rivers were crowded with fleets of steamers loaded with all the munitions of war, and tens of thousands of soldiers who were to decide the contest were winding in long lines over mountain and plain, but all marching to the field of glory or the grave of honor.

And the man whose active brain and [illegible] will are organizing and directing this vast all [illegible] is apparently [illegible] unconscious of his power. He [illegible] sober, talks but little to anyone. Not yet recovered from his recent accident he limps around Chattanooga, smoking a briar wood pipe, wearing a blouse and slouched hat. He often rides off into the country taking one or two of his staff with him, but with no plumed troops and flying pennons and gorgeous pageantry of war. But the inexorable will, the fixed purpose to do or die are all there.

Sherman arrived at Chattanooga on the morning of the 15th in advance of his column, having reached Bridgeport the night previous. Grant, Sherman and Thomas rode out on the high ground on the north of the Tennessee whence the tents of the enemy and the whole theatre of operations were in full view, a mighty amphitheatre, where the actors were nearly ready to assume their parts with distant mountains for spectators, while loud [illegible] hills and valleys [illegible] mist that was lifted to display the movement of armies formed the stage.

It was indeed a vast natural colosseum. Europe does not offer so grand a battle field from Gibraltar to Moscow. It resembled more those granite gates of Greece of which fame has told us for two thousand years, where Leonidas and the three hundred sons of Sparta waited all night to offer up their lives with the morning's sun.

Here Sherman was shown the Eastern extremity of Missionary Ridge which he was to attack. He entered at once with enthusiasm into all Grant's plans, and, the same night returned to Bridgeport to hurry up his troops, himself rowing a boat in his impatience down from Kelley's Ferry. — Phelps's Life of Grant.

A man dropped dead in a saloon before he had paid his bill, and the proprietor refused to give up the body until his relatives had settled for what he had eaten.

ORDINANCES.

[illegible] appropriating the sum of $500 to [illegible] extension of B street to intersect with [illegible] road, was read and passed

[illegible] providing for obtaining material [illegible] of streets in front of the [illegible] and for contracting with the O [illegible] Co. for the transportation of the same, [illegible] passed.

[illegible] appropriating $10,400 to the O C [illegible] was laid over

[illegible] from John Reesecher, relative to [illegible] sold and purchased by the city of [illegible], was received, read and referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

[illegible] a quarter past three o'clock yesterday [illegible] broke out in the restaurant, second door [illegible] of First street from Alder, which entirely [illegible] Riling and one other on each side of it [illegible] to James M Gilman whose loss [illegible] beyond the loss of the rents, as the houses [illegible] Twenty [illegible] hundred dollars [illegible] the actual value of the buildings The occupant of the corner house Mr. [illegible] is the heaviest loser He had [illegible] of new goods and his [illegible] stock was worth [illegible] on which he had an insurance of $4,000 in [illegible] Insurance Company of San Francisco [illegible] of his goods were taken out, but so much [illegible] fire or water, that they are nearly a [illegible] his insurance, he will probably [illegible] $7,000 The [illegible] in the other [illegible] to about $2,000. One of them was [illegible] restaurant and the other as a saloon A [illegible] in the rear of Levy's store, occupied as a [illegible], was also burned the contents being mostly [illegible] grocery and provision store of M W[illegible] [illegible] to the [illegible] of about two hundred dollars [illegible] and northern wall being burned through in [illegible] the interior [illegible] being entirely consumed [illegible] also lost anything by the [illegible] by removal to the street. All who had [illegible] furniture removed to the street, lost [illegible] and theft It is known that [illegible] clothing taken out of Mr Levy's store was [illegible] in the confusion and [illegible]

[illegible] was sounded, the fire engines were [illegible] they did most effective service. All [illegible] fronting on First street were a blaze [illegible] water was thrown; but by well directed effort [illegible] was prevented from spreading further [illegible] grocery store was [illegible] separated from the adjoining house by [illegible] board walls The first water thrown was [illegible] at the corner of First and Morrison [illegible] due to this stream that the fire was [illegible] its progress southward, toward the Western [illegible] got to playing, however, the [illegible] was directed into the [illegible] at the interior [illegible] Morrison, by order of the Chief Engineer [illegible] did excellent work, abundantly [illegible] A somewhat serious injury was [illegible] while the interior of her house [illegible] Not being sure that all her [illegible] removed, she rushed back into a burning [illegible] scalded severely about the face and [illegible] no other [illegible] of consequence, [illegible] barely escaped being caught by a [illegible] of the buildings

[illegible] Herald gives us permission to publish [illegible] may know concerning the history of [illegible] from the editorial chair of that [illegible] have asked such permission but [illegible] the kindness of it Presuming [illegible] not charged that the "City Fathers" [illegible] with threatening the proprietor of the [illegible] whom he pleased we respectfully [illegible] the material part of what we have [illegible] what the Herald has twice denied [illegible] word for word an extract from a letter [illegible] to a gentleman in this city:

Salem Jan 2, 1869

[illegible] account of the Herald's [illegible] It is substantially true There [illegible] in it that the West Side [illegible] may take advantage of. It is this: [illegible] of the West side R. R Co. held [illegible] the proprietor of the Herald was in [illegible] do not know whether Weatherford was [illegible] these men or whether the meeting was [illegible] do I know whether the stockholders [illegible] held a meeting in the ordinary [illegible] But the [illegible] of these state[illegible] Weatherford accidentally or otherwise, [illegible] Thompson, Ainsworth and Hallock, [illegible] I know, and they did threaten him [illegible] followed is accurately stated in the [illegible]

[illegible] that from a long and personal [illegible] Mr. Bellinger we are bound to give [illegible] that of any [illegible] in [illegible] the controversy The public [illegible] whether we have made good our [illegible] the manner in which the [illegible] placed in a position below inde[illegible] men

[illegible] EXACTLY —At various times we [illegible] over the coals for announcing the [illegible] of infectious diseases and charged [illegible] indifferent to the interests of business [illegible] having happened to the Unionist, [illegible] defines its position and it [illegible] right view of the matter It says [illegible] themselves dissatisfied because we [illegible] morning's issue that there was a [illegible] in town They asserted that it would [illegible] coming to town [illegible] folks from [illegible] We undertake to say that such will not be [illegible] having business here will come, transact [illegible] return home as they always have [illegible] local reporter propose to tell the events [illegible] surrounding country If small pox or [illegible] comes along it is the duty of the [illegible] plain and truthful statement of the [illegible] public may know in what position they [illegible] will carry the news of the case into the country—spread it faster and [illegible] it more than we can possibly do in [illegible] really doing more good by telling [illegible] by keeping silence It is the duty of every [illegible] any cases of disease as soon as [illegible] way knowledge is safety

[illegible] FUNERAL —The funeral procession which [illegible] of "Buckskin Bill" yesterday [illegible] five carriages and several horsemen— [illegible] processions of the kind that our [illegible] for many months We cannot suppose [illegible] were the personal friends of the deceased [illegible] that many of them turned out [illegible] of the foul deed by which his [illegible] There is rising to the surface a strong [illegible] against the lawlessness which has been [illegible] and we can assure the desperadoes who [illegible] pistols and knives of late, that one or [illegible] deeds of violence even though they be [illegible] the most worthless characters to be [illegible] such a storm of indignation in this [illegible] will effectually [illegible] the perpetrators [illegible] let them beware how they try human

CELESTIAL MANNERS —There was a row [illegible] the Chinamen on Alder street yesterday [illegible] Celestial kindly volunteered to send [illegible] to Josh and [illegible] by a short cut and [illegible] Others however prevented his kind in[illegible] being carried into effect The Chinese [illegible] the white folks style of doing things but [illegible] to advise them we will recommend [illegible] the fashion of having a man for breakfast [illegible] until they see whether it works

MANIFEST OF THE HATTIE BESSIE —From Benjamin C Wright financial editor of the Bulletin we get the following list of packages comprising the cargo of the Hattie F Besse the third vessel in the new line to leave New York for Portland direct She sailed from New York November 23d 1868 60 pkgs agricultural implements 6 bxs blacking 40 nests baskets 10 bxs carriages [illegible]

SALEM ITEMS —From the Unionist we learn that a person named Miller who came up on the Continental last trip [illegible] small pox [illegible] Many of the people [illegible] A large number of students were in attendance [illegible] of the new term of the Willamette University Monday last A [illegible] session of the City Council was held Tuesday evening at the [illegible] of the Mayor to take measures for preventing the spread of small pox A committee of two [illegible] was appointed to ascertain the [illegible] of the existence of the disease in the city and to report measures of safety the following [illegible] Willamette river has risen fifteen feet [illegible] low water mark [illegible] Tuesday [illegible] were installed [illegible] A E Stinson [illegible] S R W [illegible] W P Wils[illegible] J M S[illegible]

AN IMPORTANT INVENTION —We learn that a Mr Hugh McQuade of Grant county Oregon has patented an invention for the prevention of incrustation of steam boilers His method is to prepare the inside of the boiler plates before or after riveting with galvanic [illegible] ing copper or some other substance with which quicksilver will amalgamate This always presents a smooth surface to which nothing will attach His patent bears date Oct 6 1868 and it is his intention to soon bring the invention to the notice of practical engineers on this coast He has already had applications for the use of his invention from parties at the east It is stated that there have been over three hundred inventions patented having a similar purpose none of which have been entirely successful

ORO FINO THEATER —Last night East Lynne was performed for the third time at Oro Fino Theater The audience was a very fair one though not so large as on the two preceding evenings of the same play The several characters, however were quite as effectively rendered as on either of those evenings, and the applause by the audience was both frequent and generous. Little Hattie, a mere child in years, and never before an audience till the first night of "East Lynne," sustained the [illegible] of Willie Carlyle with surprising accuracy. She really [illegible] but little training to be a most winning little actress

BRIEF SESSION —The proceedings of the Council last evening were brief The principal business transacted was the passage of an ordinance appropriating $500 to aid in the extension of B street westward to intersect the county road; and the reception of the reports of the City Treasurer and Auditor—the former for the quarter and the latter for the half year, ending December 31 1868 The report of the Auditor is a full and explicit statement of the city's financial condition It was ordered published It will be found well worth attentive examination

LEAH THE FORSAKEN —The great drama of Leah, the Forsaken will be performed at Oro Fino Theatre this evening It is a play of thrilling [illegible] and one of the favorites of the standard drama Every eminent actress has appeared time and again in the truly great character of Leah to be assumed this evening by Mrs Bates The piece is cast with the entire and most effective strength of the company and the lovers of the drama may rely upon an excellent evening's entertainment

NEAT AND VALUABLE —The Annual is the name of a beautifully printed little paper issued by the Methodist Sunday School at Salem A year ago the first number appeared; we now have the second It is brimful of interesting Sunday School matter and religious information From it we learn that the Methodist Sunday School at Salem numbers almost five hundred persons teachers and pupils Some articles from the paper will probably be transferred to our columns.

WEST SIDE RAILROAD OPERATIONS —The Evening Commercial says the West Side Railroad Company has disbursed since breaking ground last April nearly $75 000 in gold coin, besides large sums paid in lands and bonds, has finished 120,000 cubic yards of grading and still has a large grading force at work beyond the mountains.

SERVED HIM RIGHT —A Chinaman for appropriating property at the fire yesterday morning was tried and sentenced one month in the county jail It is a pity the white rogues who made off with clothing and forgot to step with it, could not be caught, and sent up to [illegible] along with John

SPIRITUAL MANIFESTATIONS —We understand that there was a remarkable case of spiritual manifestations in this city an evening or two since in which three or four of our Salem friends figured conspicuously We won't tell, though.

FROM ASTORIA —The Okanagan arrived yesterday morning from Astoria, bringing the report that very heavy weather was prevailing at the mouth of the river up to [illegible] morning The Ajax had not yet gone to sea, nor had anything been seen of the Geo S. Wright The latter has probably gone back to Neah Bay

SOIREE —Prof McCann's next regular soiree will be held next Saturday night at the Washington Guard's Armory Those who were present at the [illegible] party given at the [illegible] the Prof [illegible] will [illegible] fail to attend the next one Dancing will begin promptly at eight o'clock The best music in the city [illegible] Tickets only one dollar for gentleman and lady

GIVE IT YOUR ATTENTION —Mr John Nestor advertises that he wants an immediate settlement with all persons who have had business with him and which remain unsettled He is going east within a few days, and his request is, therefore, a reasonable one.

The M E Church in Oregon

[From the Methodist Sunday School Annual Salem]

About the beginning of the year 1833, four Flathead Indians, who had traveled on foot all the way from Oregon, reached the headquarters of Gen Clark at St Louis, Mo, and giving an account of the object of their journey, said that a trader, who had been present at some of their religious ceremonies had told them of a better way than theirs of worshiping the Great Spirit, that the white people away toward the rising sun were in possession of the true method, and also of a book from which this had been derived, and that desirous of learning the better way and of obtaining this book, they had made the long and perilous journey

The fact that such a delegation had come from such a quarter, at such risk and through such hardships, was immediately published broadcast and made the ground of stirring appeals in favor of a mission at once to these savages "feeling after God" In response to these appeals, Rev Jason Lee volunteered his services as missionary and was immediately appointed Daniel Lee was afterward associated with him, and these two, in company with a Captain Wyeth, who was to conduct them and others across the plains, left St Louis April 10, 1834, for their unknown journey They arrived at Vancouver in the following September, and in October located the old Mission a few miles below what is now Salem

This was the origin of the M E Church in Oregon In May 1837 these missionaries were reinforced by the arrival of Dr E White, Mr A Beers, and their wives Misses Ann M Pitman Susan Downing and Elvira Johnson and Mr W H Wilson, as assistants and in September following by the arrival of Rev D Leslie and family, Rev H K W Perkins and Miss Margaret Smith

In March, 1838 Mr Lee returned to the East, and at his urgent request an additional supply of laborers was sent from New York in October, 1839, and arrived in Oregon the next May The names of those composing this reinforcement, who were permanently connected with the mission, were Revs A F Waller G Hines J L Parrish L H Judson, James Olley Dr I S Babcock Messrs George Abernethy H Campbell H B Brewer W W Raymond, and their families Misses C A Clark Elmira Phillips Almira Phelps and Orpha Lancton

About the time of Mr Lee's return to the East a new station was established at the Dalles Immediately after the arrival of this reinforcement a conference was held in Vancouver At this time a mission to the Umpqua valley was projected, and, in the following autumn Jason Lee and G Hines, accompanied by Dr White, made a tour to that place The mission however was not established In 1841 another meeting of the missionaries was held at the old Mission premises below Salem Early in 1842 the first steps were taken which resulted at a later day in founding Willamette University The first subscription toward the building amounting to more than four thousand dollars is still in existence The original building situated about four miles from Salem was sold before occupied and the seat of the institution was removed to Salem by the purchase from the Missionary Society of the building now known as the Old Institute In 1842 and 1843, the annual meetings of the missionaries were held in Salem In the latter year Jason Lee left for the East He was superceded as superintendent, before his return by Rev George Gary who arrived in May 1844 and immediately called a conference in Salem of all connected with the Mission His chief object was to close its secular business To do this he was invested by the Eastern Board with almost unlimited powers Having accomplished this design he returned to the East in 1846 and was succeeded by William Roberts who accompanied by J H Wilbur, arrived in 1847

In 1848 the General Conference authorized the organization of the Oregon and California Mission Conference This was carried into effect the year following The first session was held in the chapel of the Oregon Institute and began Sept. 5 1849 The following names appear on the roll of members W Roberts D Leslie A F Waller I Owen Wm Taylor J H Wilbur, and J L Parrish The returns showed a membership of 348 in full connection and 56 on trial

The second session was held in Oregon City F S Hoyt, E Bannister S D Simonds, and N Doane had been transferred to the Conference during the year The statistics report 393 members in full connection and 76 on probation in Oregon

The third session was held in Salem During the year C S Kingsley L T Woodward and J W Miller had been transferred for the Oregon work The membership had increased to [illegible] in full connection and 170 on probation

The fourth session was held in Portland beginning Sept 2 1852 T H Pearne I [illegible] and [illegible] Ruckana(?) had been transferred during the year This year the first steps were taken toward the establishment of a Conference paper The charges reported [illegible] members in full connection and 14 on trial This was the last session of the Oregon and California Mission Conference

The Oregon Annual Conference was organized the year following and held its first session in Salem beginning March 1 under the presidency of Bishop Ames It contained a membership of [illegible] in full connection and 224 on trial

There has been a steady increase of membership each year with a single exception since the organization of the Conference This was in 1853 when a decrease of 17 members and [illegible] probationers was reported The total increase in 1854 amounted to [illegible] in 18[illegible] [illegible] and in 1868 to 867 On the other hand from 1858 to 1862 the growth was so small as to be more than overbalanced by the loss in 186[illegible]

The church never gave greater evidence of vitality than at present In addition to the increase in membership, it is multiplying its churches and improving their appearance, founding schools, and filling them with students, raising men within its own borders for the ministry instead of depending on a foreign supply in short taking that careful oversight of every religious interest which gives proof of a vigorous and vigilant Christian organization

LET US HAVE REST —The Israelite is one of the leading organs of the Jews in the West A writer in it has recently advocated the transfer of the Sabbath to Sunday urging that a union of all upon this day will promote not only the religious aspirations of mankind, but will secure a more complete and satisfactory day to rest, and he states in this connection that the word "Sabbath" means simply Rest

Rest then, being the great cardinal idea upon which Sunday is based it is and should be doubly prized by us overworked Americans Already the nerves and brains of our people are taxed beyond endurance On every hand we see frightful evidences of this in the increase of paralysis insanity attenuation nerve disease in every form, we see our people as they get into the harness of life abandoning all relaxation and amusement or plunging into it, if at all, in the excitements of wine gaming horse racing &c and we see as a matter of course men and women wrecks at forty, or lying fast asleep under "green bed-clothes" their work and their lives but half done

Now, whatever views men may have about the proper observance of this divine day whether they advocate practices of Catholic Rome, or of Puritan Boston all will admit that it ought to be a day of rest We hold it to be a vital thing, a reviving and renewing of life, that all our people on this one day in seven even if they do not go inside of a church—lay aside the plow and the hammer drop their buying and selling shave and wash and dress themselves decently, walk about with their families, read their books or newspapers and thus thoroughly change the drift of their thoughts as well as their occupations

In this point of view alone and not in its sacred character we have preferred to speak of it and we strongly second the movement initiated by the Israelite, representing, as we understand it to do, the advanced thought of an influential body who are every day growing in numbers wealth and intelligence —N Y Times

RELIEF SOCIETY —By request of the Ladies of the Relief Society," Dr R B Wilson has granted his professional services gratuitously for three months, (from 20th December last) to the poor of Portland when recommended to him by any member of said Society

GRACEFUL AND PLEASING —Those new and beautiful styles of Parlor Suites, now so fashionable at the East. Can be seen at Hurgren & Shindler's Also, many rare articles of ornament and use for the parlor and the house

RECESS —[illegible] will be resumed in the Portland Academy and Female Seminary Monday Jan 4, 1869 Classes will be reorganized and a suitable opportunity afforded for new pupils to enter Tuition charged for the [illegible] of the Quarter only

THE SAN FRANCISCO HERALD.

On the FIRST OF JANUARY, 1869, THE SAN FRANCISCO HERALD will be revived as a first class Commercial Daily Newspaper Independent in politics under the Editorial control of its former Editor, JOHN NUGENT assisted by a thoroughly efficient and able Staff The Herald will be issued as a Morning Paper but there will be an Afternoon Edition prepared for the interior of the State and for Nevada with the Market Stock and Local Reports up to the hour of going to press

It is the design of the present enterprise to establish the best newspaper that—by the aid of unlimited means and the highest order of talent in all its departments—can be published on this coast making it in all essential particulars as much a necessity to the Mercantile and Business Public, and as valuable as a newspaper, as any of the first-class New York Journals It will be the chief aim of its projectors—by the exactness of its information on all matters of Business—to give it a staple reputation for thorough reliability as a Commercial and Business Paper, at the same time that in the ability of its conduct in the other departments—Law Literature Local Intelligence, and other elements that go to make up a Daily Morning Paper—it shall likewise be kept up to the highest standard

While the vast Agricultural Interests and the rapidly growing Manufacturing Industry of the State will be earnestly promoted as well as fully as [illegible] the News Department that interest which drew [illegible] the first great tide of immigration will be [illegible] with special care Everything worthy to be known in connection with Mining Enterprise and all investments and discoveries calculated to enhance the profits or stimulate the labor of the Miner shall be duly chronicled and described

Mr Nugent, whose ability as an Editor is sufficiently known will be assisted by gentlemen whose judgments have been educated and matured by long and varied experience in their respective Departments

TERMS ETC —The San Francisco Herald will be published every morning and will be furnished to subscribers at 50 cents per week payable to the Carriers single copies, 10 cents It will be mailed to subscribers outside the city at Eighteen Dollars a year payable in advance 6 months Nine Dollars 3 months Five Dollars

Communications intended for the Editor should be addressed to John Nugent 414 California street, San Francisco Business letters may be sent to

AROMATIC
SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS.

TO THE CITIZENS OF OREGON

I BEG LEAVE TO CALL THE ATTENTION OF THE trade [illegible] my [illegible] celebrated AROMATIC SCHIEDAM SCHNAPPS a medicinal Diet Drink of eminent [illegible] manufactured by myself exclusively at my factory at Schiedam in Holland
In [illegible] Gout and Rheumatism in Obstructions of the Bladder and Kidneys its effects are prompt decided and invariably reliable
It is now [illegible] twenty years since the Proprietor first introduced it to the American public and during that time he has received over 3 000 letters from physicians endorsing it as the purest liquor they have ever used in their practice
It is made from barley of the finest quality selected with great care from the products of the most celebrated grain-growing districts is flavored with the essence of the aromatic juniper berry of Italy and is rectified by a peculiar process which expels from the spirit every acrid particle
As a means of preventing and correcting [illegible] and often dangerous effects produced on the stomach and bowels by a change of water—a visitation to which travelers new settlers and all unacclimated persons are peculiarly liable—the

SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS
Will be found absolutely infallible, while, in cases of dropsy gravel obstructions of the kidneys [illegible] of the bladder stricture dyspepsia and general debility, it is recommended most emphatically by the most distinguished members of the medical profession
It is put up in quart and pint bottles in cases with the name of the undersigned on the bottle and cork, and a fac simile of his signature on the label For sale by all respectable druggists and country merchants
Are you WEAK, DEBILITATED, NERVOUS! Is your sleep disturbed! Do you have palpitation of the heart or an inclination to melancholy! Diseases of such nature require a prompt DIURETIC which will be found in Wolfe's Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

After All.

The apples are ripe in the orchard,
The work of the reaper is done,
And the golden woodlands redden
In the blood of the dying sun.

At the cottage door the grandsire
Sits pale in his easy chair,
While the gentle wind of twilight
Plays with his silver hair.

A woman is kneeling beside him,
A fair young head is pressed,
In the first wild passion of sorrow
Against his aged breast.

And far from over the distance
The faltering echoes come,
Of the flying blast of trumpet,
And the rattling roll of drum.

And the grandsire speaks in a whisper
"The end no man can see;
But we give him to his country,
And we give our prayers to thee."

The violets star the meadows,
The rose-buds fringe the door,
And over the grassy orchard
The pink-white blossoms pour.

But the grandsire's chair is empty,
The cottage is dark and still
There's a nameless grave in the battle field,
And a new one under the hill.

And a pallid, tearless woman,
By the cold hearth sits alone,
And the old clock in the corner,
Ticks on with a steady drone.

Lovers in a Fix.

(From the Rockford, Ill., Chief.)

A rich joke regarding a brace of ardent lovers of this city has just been whispered to us. Under promise, we have agreed to conceal the names, but are at liberty to reveal the facts of the case.

Last July, at the close of one of those hot days, these two lovers might have been seen seated upon the roof of one of our beautiful cottages, which is flat, and covered with gravel and pitch, after the manner of our city bridge. Yes, there they sat,

> "Taking the few hours, the happy moments few,
> So warm with heart, so rich with love they flew,
> That their full souls forgot the will to roam,
> And rested there, as in a dream at home."

The sun during the day had been very warm, and thus they met to spend the fleeting hours of twilight, enjoying the pleasant breeze that floated up from the garden beneath. As the evening grew cooler they hitched up nearer together, and gently "squoze" each other's hands, and all passed quietly and lovingly until the bell tolled midnight.

> "None but the loving and beloved
> Should be awake at this sweet hour."

The tolling of the bell reminded them that

> "Tired nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep," was requisite for lovers as well as others. Still seated near each other, the plighted vows were again and again exchanged, and sealed with kisses, like

> "Linked sweetness, long drawn out."

At length, after many vain attempts to sever these pleasant pleasures, the transported pair found that they were bound to each other by more sticking bonds than lovers' vows. The hot sun had melted the pitch, and after sitting so long, and the night air having cooled the [illegible] matter, they found they were both "stuck fast."—The young gentleman first att[illegible]pted to disengage himself, but found, like

> 'Aunt Jemima's plaster—
> The more you try to pull it off,
> It only sticks the faster.'

The young lady then attempted to get up, which she did, minus the skirt of her dress and all her underclothes as far as the "pannier"—we believe that's what they call it.—In this plight she attempted to relieve her disconsolate partner, but it was of no use—he [illegible] come. After some parley, he came to the conclusion that he could manage it by slipping off his pants. Accordingly, he asked his companion if she could lend him another pair until he could go home. She thought her pa's would do if they were not too long. With this information he slipped off his boots, and loosening his suspenders, drew himself out of his pants as easily as possible, and the disconsolate couple took themselves down stairs in a very blushing manner, and looked very much like our first parents when they discovered their need of fig leaves. The lady procured, as quietly as possible, a pair of her father's pants, which were run into pretty quickly, and the Adonis decamped with them rolled up about six inches.

MORAL.—Before sitting down to spark on a pitch roof, always grease the seat of your pantaloons.

CHANGE OF NAME!

MERCADO & CO., SUCCESSORS TO Mercado & Seully, have been obliged for their own protection and the safety of the public, to change the name of their celebrated Bitters to

Native California Wine
BITTERS

We subjoin the following affidavit in an injunction suit formerly pending between Mercado & Seully, plaintiffs, and G. A. Simon, defendant.

P. Salmesvain, being duly sworn, says, "That the article known as Salmesvain's California Wine Bitters was manufactured by Mercado & Seully, about the month of March, 1861, without the said Salmesvain Brothers having any concern in the manufacture thereof. The deponent has always known and considered said Mercado & Seully as the Sole Proprietors of the Salmesvain California Wine Bitters."

Notwithstanding the above affidavit the said P. Salmesvain is putting up a compound under the name of Salmesvain's California Wine Bitters, representing it to be the same as our celebrated Bitters, which we have been manufacturing and selling in immense quantities since 1860, and also affixing a nearly similar label to that used on our genuine Wine Bitters. BE NOT DECEIVED! Send for

NATIVE CALIFORNIA WINE BITTERS,

And you will obtain the same popular beverage so favorably known since 1860. Beware of Counterfeits! Purchasers of our Wine Bitters are requested to observe the familiar old yellow label, and see that the words, "MERCADO & SEULLY, SAN FRANCISCO," are engraved on the Government stamp pasted over the cork of each bottle. This is the only effectual security against the counterfeit imitations.

Depot—506 and 508 Jackson street, San Francisco.

PROSPECTUS
OF THE
Weekly Oregonian.
FOR 1869.

Nineteenth Volume!

Only $3.00 a Year.

By common consent, the OREGONIAN ranks first among the papers published in the Northwest. It is the oldest paper in the State, and its circulation and influence are greater than that of any other two papers combined. As a journal of enterprise in gathering the latest intelligence, and in giving in each issue a larger amount and greater variety of reading matter it has no competitor. It is thoroughly identified with this city and State and neighboring Territories, where the number of its readers and its influence are constantly increasing.

An unflinching advocate of sound Union principles, it at the same time pays special attention not only to MATTERS OF GENERAL INTEREST, but to everything of moment to the great

Agricultural, Manufacturing, AND MINING INTERESTS,

And to the development of the resources and settlement of the Northwest.

Its columns contain a carefully prepared digest of

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS
Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana,

TELEGRAMS FROM

are published as full as in the California journals, and put before our readers from ONE TO THREE DAYS BEFORE ANY OTHER PAPER IN THE STATE.

Among its corps of writers are regular correspondents at New York and Washington City, men who, having lived in this State, are able to write on Eastern affairs, both politically and commercially from an Oregon standpoint.

Its Literary and General Selections are from the best sources.

EXTENDED AND RELIABLE

are furnished every week, giving the Financial, Dry Goods, Hardware, and General Market Reports of Portland, and the latest reports by Telegraph of the San Francisco and New York markets. These reports are acknowledged to be the most accurate published in the State.

In every department it will be, as it has been, the foremost in the State in the field of journalism. Being firmly established, it will go forward with confidence, making new plans for improvement and usefulness, and hopes to gain increased circulation and support.

TERMS:

One Year	$3 00.
Six Months	2 00.
Three Months	1 00.

The WEEKLY OREGONIAN has been a favorite paper for mailing to friends in the East. It will be mailed from the office at subscription rates.

Subscribers will find on each paper, with their names, the date on which their subscriptions expire, as entered on our books. In renewing, the name of subscriber and post office should be distinctly written.

All papers are discontinued at the end of the time for which they have been paid, the date of which is always printed with the name each week.

REMIT BY MAIL AT OUR RISK, in presence of Postmaster, or pay to the nearest authorized agent.

We ask our friends to aid us in extending the circulation of the OREGONIAN in every direction.
